My Next Move after Undergraduate College

Job?	Immigration?	Ecosystem Awareness
Entrepreneurship?		Competence Building
Research?		Financial Planning
Academics?		Milestone identification & Progress

It is important for college entrants to become aware of their possible next step when they finish college. These can be Getting into a Job – Students can benchmark themselves for job relevant skills and get mentored. They can thus enhance their skills to required levels by the time they become job aspirants.

Setting up a business – Apart from several modern workplace skills, these students can get assessed on entrepreneurial behaviours. They can then get mentored and also build partnerships for complementary skills. This can happen even before finishing college.

Higher studies – These students can review their academic habits and be guided to enhance the same. These can focus on their academics during college, identify target colleges and initiate necessary preparations.

Immigrating to a foreign country for study or job - These students can additionally plan required financial & non-financial support required to stay in a foreign country.

Post-College Preference Identification

Preference	Description
Job	We consider the main driver for this preference is your need for safety, security and predictability. For you, a decent amount of money as well as a decent lifestyle is most important as soon as you finish the college
Entrepreneurship	We consider your need for autonomy along with the desire to create something as the prime driver for this. You seem to be willing to accept a risky and less predictable path to fulfil this need.
Research & Fellowship	We consider your love for learning to be the prime mover for this. When this love is to satisfy your own intellectual curiosity, then you may take up higher studies with the ultimate goal of doing research.
Academic Career (Teaching)	Again we consider your love for learning to be the prime mover for this. When this love is clubbed with your need to guide other, then you may take up higher studies with the ultimate goal of becoming an academician (for example a college professor)
Immigration (India or abroad?)	We consider that this is driver by your need for advancement and achievement, even if this requires moving away from a familiar to a not-so-familiar environment

Your Post-College Preference
