Academics?		Milestone identification & Progress

It is important for college entrants to become aware of their possible next step when they finish college. These can be

Getting into a Job – Students can benchmark themselves for job relevant skills and get mentored. They can thus enhance their skills to required levels by the time they become job aspirants.

Setting up a business – Apart from several modern workplace skills, these students can get assessed on entrepreneurial behaviours. They can then get mentored and also build partnerships for complementary skills. This can happen even before finishing college.

Higher studies – These students can review their academic habits and be guided to enhance the same. These can focus on their academics during college, identify target colleges and initiate necessary preparations.

Immigrating to a foreign country for study or job - These students can additionally plan required financial & non-financial support required to stay in a foreign country.
